These issues are fundamental questions and ideas that artists have thought about for centuries. The aim of the course is to direct students down these well-trodden paths in order that they may deepen their thoughts about the craft of drawing and ultimately find their own way to challenge themselves and produce well considered works of creative self-expression.

By the end of this course you will:

Have investigated a range of approaches to drawing; this will give you the opportunity to think about drawing in new and different ways and will strengthen your ability to find innovative solutions to your work, deepening your ability to be creative in drawing.
